Silentium - Official Site

Silentium has developed unique Active Noise Control (ANC) technology and an entire disruptive sound management solution, with superior technological development we are able to take unwanted noise, reduce it and shape it so it sounds better to the ear.

Active Noise Reduction

Here, the only solution is Active Noise Reduction (ANR). Terma's ANR is highly adaptable and does support even the noisiest platforms. This is accomplished via detailed analysis of comprehensive data material, collected from various platforms, prior to designing/configuring the system.

Active noise control - Wikipedia

Active noise control (ANC), also known as noise cancellation, or active noise reduction (ANR), is a method for reducing unwanted sound by the addition of a second sound specifically designed to cancel the first.

Active vs Passive Noise Cancellation - Callfone Blog

Passive noise reduction on the other hand doesn't require power, costs far less than active noise canceling but offers slightly less cancellation. Passive ambient noise reduction means insulating the ear from the external noise. This tends to work best for middle and high frequencies those which the human ear is most sensitive to. The best passive noise reduction is when an earcup
